

Name:

Minimum Wage Math

Date:

Congratulations, you've been hired at _____ to work as a _____.

Like many entry level positions requiring limited skills and expertise, you are earning minimum wage.

The current rate for minimum wage in British Columbia is: _____ per hour. Some other important information can be found at: <http://www.labour.gov.bc.ca/esb/esaguide/#1> to help you protect your rights (and complete this activity). Jot dot the IMPORTANT details in the space below, then complete your paycheck on the other side.

Name:

Minimum Wage Math

Date:

Here is your work schedule for part of February. Calculate your pay for each day considering the labour laws of British Columbia. Show your calculations in the space below. Put each day's pay in the calendar, then calculate your total pay for the week.

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
1 8 hours – 30 minute break	2 3.5 hours	3 6.25 hours	4 4 hours	5 OFF	6 OFF	7 10 hours – 30 minute break
8 0.5 hours (scheduled for 6 hours; sent home because it was slow)	9 – FAMILY DAY 8 hours – 30 minute break	10 5.5 hours without any breaks	11 OFF	12 OFF	13 6 hours – 30 minute break	14 14.5 hours – 2 30 minute breaks

TOTAL EARNINGS: _____

Before you think you're rich, wait for tomorrow's lesson on income tax!